NASHVILLE

Annual Conference

Dear Colleagues:

Welcome to the 36th Annual GAPNA Conference. On behalf of the Board of Directors and the National Office staff, I welcome you to Nashville, TN, for another exciting annual conference! I extend heartfelt thanks to the 2017 Planning Committee for their hard work and efforts in planning the conference. Thank you to Kathryn Daniel (chair), Margaret (Midge) Bowers, Gail Prothe, Linda Beuscher, Jennifer Kim, and Victoria Nalls.

In conjunction with this year's conference, GAPNA is proud to announce a new APRN specialty certification in gerontology – the APRN gerontological specialist. Pilot testing for this new certification will be conducted at this year's conference during four separate times where conference attendees may sit for the pilot exam.

Conference sessions featuring the latest clinical, policy, and leadership trends in gerontological advanced practice nursing will be presented by top experts in the field. Keynote presenter Brigadier General Clara Adams-Ender will examine core values of nursing and explore how we remain committed to those values and focused on our passion. Additional highlights include a workshop free to all registered attendees on opioid prescribing, clinical project and research presentations developed and implemented by advanced practice nurses, free one-on-one research consultations, and pharmacology continuing education available from designated sessions.

We encourage you to take advantage of the opportunities to network with your colleagues. We also hope you have time to take advantage of the beauty that Nashville – Music City itself – has to offer! A Grand Ole Opry Birthday Bash will be held on Saturday, and the GAPNA Foundation offers two fun activities to help great cause: a scramble golf outing on Wednesday, and a fun run/walk on Friday morning.

We utilize your feedback to help us plan our conferences, so please share your thoughts and ideas with our board members, chapter presidents, committee chairs, and other volunteer leaders to help GAPNA continue to grow and serve its membership. We welcome you to Nashville and hope you have a wonderful time!

Katherine A. Evans, DNP, FNP-C, GNP-BC, ACHPN, FAANP
President, GAPNA

Gerontological Specialist Certification Pilot Exam (4 of 4)

9:30 p.m.

Grand Ole Opry Birthday Bash (Tickets must be purchased in advance)

New APRN Specialty Certification in Gerontology

GAPNA is proud to announce a new APRN Specialty Certification in Gerontology – the APRN Gerontological Specialist. This is the only specialty certification that recognizes gerontological advanced practice nurses.

This specialty certification will distinguish experienced APRNs who possess expert knowledge, experience, and skill in managing the complex health needs of frail older adults.

GAPNA will be conducting pilot testing for this new certification examination at this year's Annual Conference during the following time periods:

Tuesday, October 3, 2017

3:30 pm – 6:00 pm

Wednesday, October 4, 2017

8:00 am – 10:30 am

2:30 pm – 5:00 pm

Saturday, October 7, 2017

4:15 pm – 6:45 pm

Each person who sits for the pilot test will receive feedback regarding his or her exam performance. There are no fees associated with sitting for the pilot test, and all participants will be entered in a raffle to receive a free GAPNA Conference registration in 2018. Please see the onsite conference registration desk for more information.

GAPNA's Rising Star for Fall 2017 is Casey V. Fowler

GAPNA's latest Rising Star is Casey V. Fowler, DNP, MSN, NP-C, ARNP of the Seattle Chapter in Washington. Casey became a member of GAPNA in 2013 via Optum's Corporate Membership program. He currently serves as the National Web Editor as part of the Communications Committee and the Webmaster for his chapter. Casey won first place for his research poster at the GAPNA 2016 Annual Conference.

Casey graduated cum laude from Northwest University with his BSN, and then from Gonzaga University with his MSN and DNP. In 2014, he earned the Promise of Nursing for Washington Regional Faculty Fellowship. Casey currently works as a Clinical Advisor for Optum.

"I have always identified with older generations better than my own," said Fowler. "So naturally, I enjoy caring for these patients. I also enjoy working with the complexity of this population as it presents new and varying challenges on a daily basis. The most fulfilling part about my job is having the ability to make a positive impact in the lives of my patients, coworkers, and the nursing home staff."

Casey carries a half caseload of 40 patients in one skilled nursing facility while spending the other half of his time onboarding new hires, helping to roll out new initiatives, providing in-services for current Nurse Practitioners, and supporting the Clinical Services Manager. Additionally, he has been working on several special projects at both the state and national levels to improve processes related to laboratory testing, market penetration, and new Nurse Practitioner training processes.

When asked how he sees the field of geriatrics evolving in the future, Casey said, "I expect to see further expansion to Nurse Practitioner scope of practice. With the current provider shortage, we can ill afford to continue working under the same restrictions. Nurse Practitioners are expected to outnumber physicians in primary care by 2025, and as the bulk of patients seeking primary care will be older adults, I expect to see Nurse Practitioners taking the lead to provide high quality and cost-effective care to our seniors."

Casey's favorite activity is spending quality time with his family – his wife Casey (they have the same name!) and their son Jeremiah. He also enjoys attending church where he helps care for toddlers in the nursery once per month, and he attends a family Bible study once per week. Additionally, he enjoys watching basketball, camping, fishing, and writing.

"I got involved in GAPNA as a volunteer as a way to give back to my profession," said Fowler. "The work of this organization would not be possible without hard work from our faithful volunteers, and I am grateful to everyone currently serving in a GAPNA position. I would like to say a word of thanks to GAPNA's leadership for choosing me for this award. It was truly unexpected, and I am grateful for the recognition. I would also like to thank God for blessing me with the ability to excel in my profession."

GAPNA Gives Back

Every year at our annual conference, GAPNA strives to give back to the local community of older adults in need. This year, we are partnering with Fifty Forward in Nashville. Fifty Forward supports, champions, and enhances life for those 50 and older. This non-profit organization assists older adults in various ways and settings; however, we will specifically be giving back to the Adult Day Services program for low-income seniors with cognitive decline and memory issues. We are collecting socks for both men and women that are pre-packaged only – no loose pairs without tags or packaging. They can be packaged in a multipack, or they can be single pairs with tags that are sold separately. Thank you in advance for your tremendous support!

CONTINUING EDUCATION INFORMATION AND DISCLOSURES

Conference Learning Outcome

Advanced practice nurses caring for older adults will gain enhanced knowledge applicable to practice by attending the 2017 GAPNA Conference.

Requirements for Successful Completion

Attend 90% of each session in which contact hours are earned, complete an online evaluation, and submit.

Continuing Education

Select sessions contain pharmacology content that can be applied toward pharmacology credit requirements. Pharmacology content credit is time-based on the objectives and content outline. Pharmacology credit of at least 5.33 hours can be accumulated by any one person attending conference sessions (if attending sessions offering the highest number of pharmacology hours available). Additional pharmacology credit is available for pre-conference workshops where indicated.

This conference is jointly provided by Anthony J. Jannetti, Inc. (AJJ) and the Gerontological Advanced Practice Nurses Association (GAPNA).

Anthony J. Jannetti, Inc. is accredited as a provider of continuing nursing education by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.

Anthony J. Jannetti, Inc. is a provider approved by the California Board of Registered Nursing, Provider Number, CEP 5387.

GAPNA urges all participants to be aware of their State Board of Nursing's Continuing Education and/or certification requirements, particularly in regards to the length of time a certificate must be kept by the learner.

Learning Outcomes

Learning outcomes for each session are listed as bulleted items in the conference schedule section.

Gerontological Advanced Practice Nurses Association (GAPNA) Annual Conference

2018 Call for Research and Clinical Project Abstracts

Deadline March 15, 2018

Overview

The GAPNA Research Committee is accepting research project and clinical project abstracts for presentation at the 2018 annual conference.

The Research Committee's goal is to facilitate the dissemination of quality projects and innovative practice projects at the annual conference. Since only GAPNA members can present, the committee strongly encourages the primary author to become a member at the time of abstract submission. Projects should enrich the advanced practice nurse's knowledge and/or enhance the care of the older adult. Selected winning abstracts may be published in the GAPNA newsletter or Geriatric Nursing journal.

Review and Acceptance

Abstracts are reviewed and selected by members of the GAPNA Research Committee. Selection based on interest to advanced practice nursing, contribution to the care of older adults, clarity, and content.

Guidelines for Submission

Visit www.gapna.org for complete submission specifications. Abstracts should be submitted using the format provided on the GAPNA website. Abstract submitters are required to provide a copy of their Institutional Review Board (IRB) approval form.
